FINDING THEMSELVES, TIGERS WIN, 13 TO 6

Oklahoma Aggies Score First Touchdown in Opening Game of Season.

NEW MEN HELP OUT

Schulte's Recruits Figure Largely in Turning of Tide Toward Victory.

"Indian" Schulte's newly manufactured football machine did not really find itself until the last quarter of the game yesterday afternoon with the Oklahoma Aggies. Then a large crowd of rooters who feared a disappointing tie game were pleased to see the Tigers march down the field towards the Oklahoma goal and shove the ball over for a touchdown. This and a goal from touchdown added seven points to Missouri's score and defeated the boys from Stillwater by a count of 13 to 6.

About the only previous exhibition of experienced football was in the last part of the second quarter, when some pretty line plunging placed the ball near enough the Aggies' goal line to permit a neatly executed forward pass which resulted in tying the score.

New Men Show Up Well.

But, despite the fact that the Missouri team showed streaks of greenness in the early part of the game, there were several things besides the score that pleased the packed bleachers. The game showed that Schulte has the material which, with a little more experience and drilling, should develop into a winning combination. Four of the men who showed up best for the Tigers were playing their first year on the Varsity. They were Reppy, McAnaw, Klein and White. The first two made the largest share of the Missouri gains and were big factors in the scoring of both touchdowns.

Then, too, yesterday's play showed that the line will balance up with the backfield, despite its lack of weight.

There was little spectacular play in the game, contrary to the expectations of those who believed, because of the lightness of both teams, that there would be much open play. But it was too early in the season to spring any thrills.

Aggies Make First Touchdown.

The Aggies started like a real scoring machine. When Missouri was forced to punt in the last part of the first quarter, the Aggies started to move the ball towards the Tiger goal line. Scott, the back who was the main groundgainer for the Oklahomaans, broke through the line for a 15-yard gain, placing the ball on the 5-yard line. On the next play the same man plunged through the Tiger defense for the first touchdown of the game. Weaver failed at goal.

The Aggies' score put the Tigers to work. In the second quarter Reppy, with the assistance of White, lugged the pigskin within striking distance of the Aggies' goal. Van Dyne made a hole that enabled Reppy to tear off fifteen yards more. Then a good piece of headwork caught the Aggies off guard. Speelman stood waiting back of the goal line while Archie Klein tossed the ball over the line of scrimmage into his arms. It tied the score, but it was the only successful forward pass of the game.

Fumbles by Tigers Frequent.

From then until the beginning of the last quarter, the game was mostly punting, penalties, some fumbling and a couple of Missouri place kicks that went astray. Fumbles ruined the few chances the Tigers had to score.

The middle of the last quarter found the ball in Missouri's possession on the 30-yard line. McAnaw followed some line plunging with a 15-yard gain through right tackle. Then he plunged through, five yards, for the touchdown that won the game. "Snooze" Groves kicked goal.

The teams were about evenly matched as to weight, but the Tigers' superior playing is shown by the fact that the Missourians made twenty-one first downs to their opponents' four. Also, the Aggies were on the defensive the greater part of the game. Missouri was penalized more times than Oklahoma.

Veterans Hold the Line.

The work of Van Dyne, Groves and Captain Speelman, veterans of last year, stood out in the line. The first two opened good holes for the backs to plow through, while the Tiger captain halted more than one end run pointed in his direction. Reppy made the most of Missouri's first downs. There were few times when he failed.

to gain. McAnaw's work was a pleasant surprise, as he had done little in practice which would forecast his playing of yesterday. Scott was the star in the Oklahoma backfield.

Woody, who started at fullback, was taken from the game on account of a torn ligament in his leg. It may keep him out of the Washington game. Nolan fainted during the game, but suffered no serious injuries.

ALLIES HURL FORCES AGAINST TEUTON LINE

Second Offensive Is Raging Along Entire Western Front.

BERLIN ADMITS LOSS

Kaiser's Men Claim to Hold All Their Own Except Near Auberive.

By EDWARD L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Allies are hurling great forces of infantry into the second mighty smash against the German lines since the western offensive began. Following another heavy bombardment of the Teuton forces, the British and French infantry leaped from the trenches late yesterday and began storming the German works on the wide fronts in the Artois and Champagne regions. The latest official word from the German and French war offices indicated that the onslaughts continue, despite the terrible fire from the German positions.

Sir John French's men are attacking fiercely around the Hulloch stone quarries north of Loos, where the Germans are admitted to have recaptured a portion of the ground taken in the British drive a week ago. Berlin reported yesterday that the British had ceased their attacks.

British Attack Violently.

This afternoon a German communication admitted that the British were attacking with great violence, but declared that all onslaughts thus far had been repulsed. These dispatches hinted that the fighting is developing into one of the bloodiest combats of the whole Allied offensive.

Paris and Berlin reports conflict regarding the fight west of Vimy where the French claim to have made further progress and the Germans report to have made further progress and the Germans report that all the French attacks have been repulsed. They agree, however, that a desperate battle is raging in the Champagne region, where the French, according to Berlin statements, are attacking over a wide front. Berlin admits that the French have penetrated the German works at one point east of Auberive but claims that all French attacks north of Mesnil have been repulsed.

The French war office's statement made no mention of gains by the German right east of Auberive but claimed progress north of Mesnil.

Germans Report Captures.

For the first time since the offensive movements began, the German war office today issued a definite statement regarding the number of captures. It was stated that twenty-one officers and 10,731 men have been taken in the fighting north of Arras and in Champagne. Thirty-five machine guns are claimed.

The French war office recently estimated that the Allies had captured 23,000 German prisoners and the captures reported since the statement was issued would bring the total above 25,000. In addition to this, the French and German war offices both referred to the great activity of the armies along the battle front.
